

Creating a Safe and Peaceful Home Buying Experience

As we navigate our nation's COVID-19 health crisis together, GHA Companies continues to make the safety and well being of your family, our families and the communities we serve our highest priority. In this spirit, we are responding to a constantly evolving situation with adjustments at each of our new home sales galleries.

We ask you to contact the sales gallery of your choice to schedule your exclusive, one-hour appointment. One of our Community Sales Counselor will reserve your preferred day and time, meet with you while preserving 6-foot minimum social distancing, and ensure that you have private access to each model and the sales office throughout your personalized appointment.

If viewing our homes from the comfort of yours sounds good, GHA can help, with multiple online tools that include photos, renderings, virtual tours and videos.

The faster we all take proactive measures the faster we will get through this historic event. Protecting our homebuyers is our most important goal currently.

“We are in this together and we will get through it together”

Mario Gonzales president and CEO of GHA Companies
